COMPANY PROFILE

MODERN BATHWARE

While there are many sanitary ware manufacturers and brands in the markets, some stand out to be clear leaders and change makers. They are the ones most respected and demanded in the industry.

Merida is one such company. It has more than 25 years of experience in sanitary ware manufacture and supply. It has known all technology upgrades and implemented so many innovations in the last two decades that its experience alone is enough to be the leader.

With state of the art manufacturing unit situated at Morbi, India adopting imported as well as Indian machinery, it rolls out products fast and efficiently. Its design unit is manned with artists who create outstanding designs that woe one and all. They are in consistent touch with markets and interior designers across the world for new ideas and concepts that would trend. They develop products that last long in style as well as functionality.

The people in manufacturing are well trained and experienced to bring high quality systems and products to life. They make sure there is minimum rejection and maximum production to never miss delivery dates or quantities promised. They consistently upgrade their production systems to bring out best. They have earned a number of certificates and accolades for their high quality manufacturing processes and products.

The marketing team is always in the field learning new happenings, observing fresh styles in construction, developing relations with visualizers and designers. It is on look out for developing dependable sales channels and funnels that would not only bring in consistent business but also grow the demand of same channels. They talk to retailers and help them learn better sales and closing making sure that secondary demand is always met.

All in all the leadership status of Merida is a result of hard and smart work coupled with laser sharp focus on core activities that lead to strong brand values.
